CAMP HEATHWOOD A HIT WITH KIDS AT TRADITIONS

ommunity spirit is thriving at Traditions in Milton, where Heathwood. Homes opened up the Sales Centre this summer for Camp Heathwood. On weekdays during two weeks in August, Milton Youth Theatre Productions provided counselors and an activity program that included crafts, outdoor games, singing, dancing, drama and more. Amid the squeals of laughter, the sound of community building could be heard as the young residents experienced a heightened sense of belonging. They enjoyed many opportunities to make friends and create memories.

Hugh Heron, President of Heathwood Homes (and a big kid at heart), is delighted with the way the camp was embraced by families at Traditions. "This is such a great community for all ages," he says. "It was wonderful to see the summer campers having so much fun. I can't think of a better use for our Sales Centre than as a gathering place where neighbours of all ages come together." This includes Heathwood's "Residents' Corner," where owners and their families can stop by for a coffee and a chat, and check out the bulletin board to see what's new in the neighbourhood.

Heathwood is hosting other classes and events in the Sales Centre, from yoga, knitting and cooking classes, to photography lessons, gardening seminars and a book club. Some of the instructors own businesses in town and are part of the Resident Card Program Heathwood set up to connect Traditions homeowners with the shops and services they can access easily.

Master-planned Traditions is situated at the west end of Old Main Street. Within the community, residents enjoy a woodlot, park and village square, connected by walking trails and bicycle paths. All the homes are ENERGY STAR* qualified and include luxurious appointments. Townhomes start from $309,900; semi-detached from $358,900; detached from $419,900.
